

Christ the King Youth Ministries

Minutes for March 31, 2005 Advisors Meeting

Attendees

Tammy McKay, Dan Skibba, Betty Mulrey, Pastor Keyl, Amy Hansen.

Lock In

The lockin was a success with 93 youth and a7 adults attending. The event showed a profit this year of $343. I compliance with our plan, we donated the profits ($350) to Youth Encounter. Dan also sent letters to the churches that attended the lockin informing them that the profits were donated.

We discussed the possibility of keeping Captive Free for an extra day next year to do a contemporary worship on the Saturday after the lockin. We decided that this would be okay to pursue. Subsequent to the meeting, Dan booked the band only for the lockin. The subject of Captive Free and a contemporary service will be discussed again at the next meeting.

The issue of the temperature in the main room upstairs at Hampshire Hills was discussed. The Hampshire Hills staff claimed that there was nothing they could do about it. We should mention this in the promotional materials for next year.

Also, there were some adults who were annoyed with the sound from the movies because it was keeping them awake. We need to make it clear next year that the movies will run all night and there are alternative places where people can sleep.

Spring Fling

There will be 9 youth and 2 adults going to Spring Fling. We still need to establish whether we need extra transportation.

Tent

Dan led discussion of options for a tent for Hammonasset and other events. Matt Skibba has arranged for a tent for Hammonasset for the past two years and the tent not only provided shelter for all of the CtK picnic tables but also served as a place where the CtK group congregated. Matt graduates from college in May and we may or may not be able to get another free tent.

Dan proposed buying a 20x20 canopy of some sort. He will look into the various options and provide an update for the next meeting.
